

Disclaimer

Paul Meijering Metalen bv does its utmost best to ensure the reliability and topicality of the information on its website. Irregularities and imperfections may however occur. Paul Meijering Metalen bv is not liable for damage or loss as a result of irregularities or imperfections in the information provided, nor for damage or loss as a result of problems caused by or inherent to the distribution of information via the Internet, such as breakdowns or interruptions of or errors or delays in the provision of information or services by Paul Meijering Metalen bv or by you to Paul Meijering Metalen bv by means of the Paul Meijering Metalen bv website or other electronic means. Neither does Paul Meijering Metalen bv accept liability for any damage or loss suffered as a result of the use of data and/or information provided by or on behalf of Paul Meijering Metalen bv via this website. Paul Meijering Metalen bv does not accept responsibility for the content of websites referred to by means of a hyperlink or otherwise. Paul Meijering Metalen bv does not guarantee that e-mails or other electronic messages sent to them are received and processed in time, and it accepts no liability for the consequences of such e-mails or messages being received or processed late or not at all. All content that can be consulted via the website, including yet not limited to the texts, look and feel, audio and visual material, images, software, design, brands, logos, any other information and databases is subject to intellectual property rights owned by Paul Meijering Metalen bv, its licensors and/or its partners. You can use this content only in order to use the website and the services offered on that website. Without the explicit prior written consent of Paul Meijering Metalen bv, you are not permitted to use the content for other purposes, which include but are not limited to the reproduction and/or publishing of the content or distributing it to third parties, whether or not for commercial purposes, unless this is permitted under mandatory law.